Zionsville Community Enrichment Grant Committee awards $67,774 to local non-profits

The Town of Zionsville's Community Enrichment Grant Committee awarded its fall 2023 grants, the sixth round of awards since the grant program launched in January of 2021. Eight local non-profits received grants with a total of $67,774 infused into the community.

The local non-profits that received funding are Boys and Girls Club of Boone County ($10,000 grant), Hussey-Mayfield Memorial Public Library Foundation ($5,000 grant), ILADD, Inc. ($2,000 grant), SullivanMunce Cultural Center ($5,434 grant), The Cabin Counseling and Resource Center ($15,000 grant), Zionsville Alliance for Mental Wellness ($10,340 grant), Zionsville Cultural District ($10,000 grant) and Zionsville Lions Park ($10,000 grant).

Earlier this year as part of the spring grant cycle, the Zionsville Community Enrichment Grant Committee awarded $49,285 to local non-profits. As part of the budget, Zionsville Town Council also funded $60,000 each to two other local non-profits – the Zionsville Chamber of Commerce and zWORKS.

Grants will fund several community events and address community needs including a summer reading program, a mental health program, a new mural in the village business district and more.

The Community Enrichment Grant Committee is a citizen-led committee with three members: Jennifer Cross, Lauren Hernandez-DeCrane and Allison Williams. Non-profits located in Boone County that serve Zionsville residents and businesses are encouraged to apply for funding.
